(Organization)

We all know of the pitiful army of refugees who are now fleeing from Germany, Italy and the little dictatorships. Perhaps the saddest of the group are the young students whose lives stretch before them with little hope of fulfillment.

To offer help to this group an Intercollegiate Committee to Aid Student Refugees was formed in January. The response to their nationwide plea has been ready and hearty, and over 100 colleges have launched movements on their respective campuses.

Indiana University now hopes to join this movement. At a recent meeting with almost a score of campus organizations represented, it was unanimously agreed that our University should enlist in this emergency project.

The group considered that such an effort on the campus would voice the determination of American students to fight racial and religious intolerance and demonstrate their conviction that they will preserve a humane and democratic form of government.

Refugee students of superior intelligence and culture will be chosen to benefit from the work of this group. Choosing such students will result in reciprocal cultural influences both to them and to the students of Indiana University.

A temporary committee has been formed and a second meeting will be held on Tuesday evening, May 2, at 7:30 o'clock in Town Hall, at which time we would like to have a definite statement from your organization as to whether or not you would be willing to take part in the formation of a permanent organization to handle Indiana's share of this responsibility. Please appoint two official delegates to attend this meeting. We appreciate any and all suggestions.

We <sup>do</sup> do not pledge our support to this proposed plan.

We all know of the British Army of Occupation and the new lineup from Germany, Italy and the Middle East. Perhaps the subject of the group are the young students who live at home with their families in England.

The offer here is to bring down an International Committee to the student houses was formed in January. The purpose is to discuss the place of the young and healthy, and over 100 students have founded movements of their respective countries.

Indiana University now hopes to join this movement. At a recent meeting with a view to some of the questions of the group, it was unanimously agreed that our university should enter in this movement too.

The group is organized and has an effort of the group would be to determine the student's attitude towards the world and religious information and to discuss their own country and they will receive a human and economic form of education.

Religious education of students and their families and others will be given to benefit from the work of this group. Existing such and data will facilitate the development of individual forms to look and to be studied in the University.

A temporary committee of students from the University will will be held on Tuesday evening, 1954. The purpose of this will be to discuss the place of the young and healthy, and over 100 students have founded movements of their respective countries.
