*1 The purpose of this addition for 1966-67 is to further strengthen Indiana University's ties with Sierra Leone, currently manifest in a long-term relationship through the Peace Corps. This would be the second Sierra Leone language offered.

*2 The addition of Afrikaans not only takes advantage of the special talent of one of the present members of our staff, but it also gives us the strongest program of any university in this country in terms of the study of African history, social sciences, and literature through the use of Germanic languages. The Department of Germanic Languages already has manifest strength in German, Danish, and Dutch, which historians in particular are finding useful in the analysis of the West and South African past.

*5 Negotiations are currently underway. "Languages and Religion of Africa" will be a new course. A335 will have to be restored since it was dropped after the retirement of Professor Herzog, and in any case the content will be considerably altered. L620 and L755 are already listed in the catalog under "staff", indicating that the content changes from semester to semester.

*6 Negotiations are currently underway with respect to this position. Archaeology of West Africa is an entirely new course. A450 is in the catalog but the content changes each time it is offered to meet the special interests and qualifications of the instructor.

*7 The addition of personnel and courses in this area would strengthen the African Studies Program and the growing program in urban studies at this time. Negotiations are currently underway for a candidate.
