Mr. Herman B. Wells, President
Indiana University
Bloomington, Indiana

Dear Mr. Wells:

I cannot begin to tell you how much we appreciate the splendid cooperation we received during the period of our Spring Training in Bloomington. It seemed that everyone went out of his way to be good to us.

I honestly believe that our Club is in better condition than any other Club in the American Association and all the credit is due to our having had access to training in your fieldhouse. I feel certain that had Bill McKechnie the opportunity to do it over again he would have remained in Bloomington instead of taking his barn-storming trip.

I know from conversations I heard that all the officials of the Cincinnati Club along with myself were very much pleased with the set-up at Bloomington. If we have baseball in 1944 I would sincerely appreciate the same privilege.

Again many, many thanks.

Cordially yours,

Owen J. Bush
